10 REASONS TO LOVE FAIRHOPE

1. Fairhope's Historic Downtown

Shopping District

With over 100 unique shops, art galleries and restaurants, there is something in Fairhope for everyone and every budget!

2. Christmas in Fairhope

We light the trees in downtown with over one million lights, have an outdoor movie in the street and invite the children to wear their Christmas pajamas and have an Annual Christmas Open House that's over 50 years old.

3. Award Winning Landscapes

4. Fairhope Municipal Park & Pier

Fairhope's "town square", located at the west end of Fairhope Avenue, the pier stretches out over Mobile Bay nearly a quarter of a mile. Also, you can't miss the award winning rose garden, walking trails, self-guided tree trails and duck pond.

5. Fairhope Arts & Crafts Festival

Held annually the 3rd weekend in March in Downtown Fairhope. This annual juried art show is over 60 years old and was voted #14 out of 100 Best Predominately Classic and Contemporary Craft Shows in the Nation by Sunshine Artist magazine in 2008.

6. Mardi Gras!

A family friendly celebration the whole family can enjoy! We even have a special parade for dogs!

7. Recreation

Fairhope has a city owned golf course, a skate park, a dog park, a community recreation center with indoor and outdoor pools, tennis courts and miles of walking trails! Check it all out at cofairhope.com under the recreation department.

8. We support the Arts!

Check out the Eastern Shore Art Center in downtown Fairhope, enjoy our public art trail or join us the first Friday of every month for First Friday Art Walk!

9. Fairhope is Patriotic!

Fairhope is building a Veteran's Memorial which will be unveiled in 2012. We host an annual Veteran's Day parade and 4th of July Celebration, with a fireworks display that is second to none!

10. We've got History!

Visit the Fairhope Museum of History and the Marietta Johnson Museum while you are in town for free! Look for the historic markers in the downtown Fairhope Historic District!

What is a Jubilee?

The cry is eagerly awaited each summer by Mobile Bay residents. They are excited by the prospect of giggering hundreds of flounder or catching tubs of crabs in just a few hours. It is thought by many, that Jubilees of this magnitude occur only two places in the world, Tokyo Bay, Japan and right here in Mobile Bay.

Jubilees are the result of a lack of oxygen in the water. Jubilee-affected fish and shellfish cannot carry out normal muscular activities, such as swimming. They move slowly to the surface to reach oxygen and seem reluctant to swim even to escape capture.

No one knows when or where on the beach the next jubilee will occur. Most summers there are several but you can't even be sure of that!

Fairhope Municipal Pier & Parks

Located at the west end of Fairhope Avenue, on the site of the city's commercial pier (dating 1894), the Fairhope Pier is our city's "town square". The park features benches, picnic areas, restrooms, a marina, restaurant, walking trails and a duck pond.

Bell Building, Marietta Johnson Museum

50 S. School Street

Built in 1904, the Bell Building was home to Fairhope's first school, the Marietta Johnson School of Organic Education. A visionary educator, Johnson was one of the foremost leaders of the Progressive Education Movement in the early 1900s. She founded a school in Fairhope that is still in operation today, and she influenced schools and teachers around the world. For information call (251) 990-8601.

Tree Trails

The Marietta Johnson Tree Trail (located on the campus of Faulkner State Community College) and Beach Park Tree Trail are self guided trails that identify hundreds of trees, including more than 25 different species. For information, call (251) 929-0360.

Fairhope Welcome Center

20 North Section Street

Located on Section Street, The Welcome Center is staffed with ambassadors to answer all your questions about Fairhope. The Center is a valuable resource for visitors; it's a repository for maps, brochures on area businesses, restaurants and lodging guide. (251) 928-5095.

Fairhope Public Library

501 Fairhope Avenue

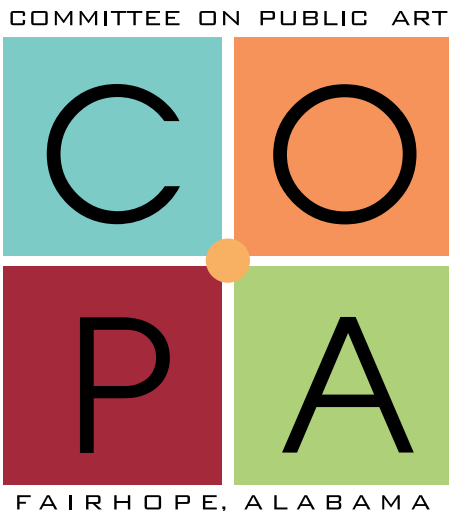

Fairhope has one of the largest libraries in the Southeast. Our public library has approximately 63,000 items (books, audio books, DVDs/Videos, magazines/newspapers) and 57 public access computers where residents and visitor can check their e-mail. For additional information call (251) 928-7483. www.fairhopelibrary.org

Fairhoper's Community Park

Corner of Church Street & Morphy Avenue

Built entirely by volunteers, this park is a wonderland for children with towers for climbing and exploring, rope swings, lookouts, slides, and "imagination stations." Park also has picnic tables, gazebo, and large play field.

The Eastern Shore Art Association's Committee on Public Art (COPA) holds public art projects, such as Art Takes Flight (Party With The Pelicans) in 2008 and Jumpin' Jubilee (2011) to raise funds with which to purchase public art objects that are given to the City of Fairhope. Throughout its history, COPA has given the Mullet Run artistic fountain behind the Fairhope History Museum, the Dolphin Family sculpture at the end of Orange Street, Elan Vital (The Blue Flame) sculpture at the corner of Oak and Section streets near the Fairhope Civic Center and numerous others.

COPA in 2012, among other items, is studying how funds raised from Jumpin' Jubilee will be used for a future project yet to be determined, hosting a Japanese pottery artist and his workshop at the University of South Alabama's Baldwin Campus in April, and hosting a dinner in July at which author Rick Bragg will be the featured guest.

Jolane Edwards, wife of former Congressman Jack Edwards and a renown artist, was among those who formed COPA in 2005 with the purpose of holding fundraisers and accepting donations to purchase quality art pieces for public display in Fairhope. The committee and its projects have been an integral part of the Eastern Shore Art Association. ESAA qualifies under IRS rules as a 501-c-3 for charitable gift donations.

For further information about COPA, contact its chairman, Clay Swanzy, at clayswanzy@sonnycallahan.com or dianneswanzy@bellsouth.net.
