“Tapas are a wide variety of appetizers or ‘snacks’ originally served in Spain. The original tapas were the slices of bread or meat with which sherry drinkers in Andalusian taverns covered their glasses between sips, a practical measure to prevent fruit flies from hovering over the sweet sherry. The meat used to cover the sherry was normally ham or chorizo, which are both very salty and activate thirst. Noticing this, bartenders and restaurant owners began creating a variety of snacks to serve with sherry; the tapas eventually became as important as the sherry itself. At The Blue Roof Tapas Bar we take this concept to the next level, developing small plates of flavors from around the globe for our guests to sample and enjoy. You can easily fill up on an assortment of items from our Tapas menu, or choose ‘Something More.’ Thank you for joining us this evening; we hope that you enjoy our creations as much as we have enjoyed creating them.”
